Dear Dr. Lintott:

It is the policy of Annual Reviews to obtain a written transfer of copyright ownership from our authors and then to grant back to authors a broad array of parallel rights. The transfer of copyright allows Annual Reviews (a nonprofit organization) to publish your article, to recover the costs of publication without immediate commercial competition, and potentially to make arrangements for abstracting, indexing, translating, reprinting, and other distribution services. Further, copyright transfer codifies Annual Reviews' flexibility to produce and disseminate your work as broadly as possible via whatever media and delivery mechanisms are appropriate today and in the future. For a complete explanation of our policy and its underpinnings, please see the Copyright FAQ on our Web site at http://www.annualreviews.org/page/authors/author-instructions/distributing/copyright_mandate.

We ask you, as the author or coauthor of an article now in production, to complete the statement below and sign either (a), (b), or (c). Please return this form to us with your revised manuscript. Note that, in the event of a jointly-authored work, all co-authors will be asked to complete this form.

Copyright Transfer and Authors' Rights Agreement

I, Chris Lintott, am an author or coauthor of the manuscript submitted to Annual Reviews and entitled: Ideas for Citizen Science in Astronomy, scheduled to appear in Volume 53 of the Annual Review of Astronomy and Astrophysics.

AUTHOR: SIGN ONLY (a), (b), or (c)

(a) For good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned warrants that the above manuscript is the author's original work and has not been published before, that the work contains no libelous or other unlawful statements, and that the work does not infringe on the rights of others. The work is deemed to include all material submitted for publication and includes the text, figures, tables, and any supplementary material accompanying the work. Effective upon completion of this Transfer Agreement, the author hereby assigns to Annual Reviews all right, title, and interest in and to the work in print and all electronic formats. This includes, but is not limited to, the rights to migrate the work to future formats, translate it, and include it in collections. Again notwithstanding any other rights, Annual Reviews may create adaptations, summaries, extracts, and derivative works and shall retain all rights over such adaptations, summaries, extracts, and derivative works.

Authors' Rights After manuscript acceptance and copyright transfer, substantial rights are granted to the author(s) by Annual Reviews:

1. The retention of patent and trademark rights to processes or procedures described within the work.
2. The nonexclusive right to use, reproduce, distribute, perform, update, create derivatives, and make copies of the work (electronically or in print) in connection with the author's teaching, conference presentations, lectures, and publications, provided the copies are not offered for sale and proper attribution is given. Note that self-archiving rights are treated in items #5 and #6 below.
3. The nonexclusive right to store the publisher-supplied PDF file of the work ("the published version") in electronic reserve rooms for access by students at the author's institution as part of the author's teaching activities, so long as these files are made available free of charge and are removed when no longer connected to the author's own teaching.
4. The nonexclusive right to use, reproduce, and distribute the publisher-supplied PDF of the work ("the published version") in coursepacks, within the author's own institution, so long as these copies are distributed to students free of charge.
5. The right to self-archive a "preprint" version of the work, defined as a manuscript that has not yet been reviewed, edited, or prepared for publication by Annual Reviews, provided (a) any preprint posted to the Web after the completion of this Transfer Agreement states explicitly by which Annual Reviews journal the manuscript has been accepted, and (b) after the published version of the work appears on the Annual Reviews Web site, the preprint version is amended to include the following acknowledgment and link: "Posted with permission from the Annual Review of Astronomy and Astrophysics, Volume 53 © 2015 by Annual Reviews, <http://www.annualreviews.org>."
6. The right to self-archive, after the work's publication, an Annual Reviews-supplied ePrint URL (a specially-keyed URL that allows nonsubscribers to access an Annual Review article freely via the Annual Reviews Web site) on one personal Web site and/or one institutional repository. The ePrint URL provides free access to your article; Annual Reviews does not grant permission to directly self-archive a postprint file or the PDF of the article's published version.
7. The right to distribute an Annual Reviews-supplied ePrint URL to colleagues who request reprints.
8. The right to include the work, in whole or in part, in a dissertation or thesis.
9. The right to use the work, in whole or in part, with attribution and without revision or modification, in print compilations or other print publications.

The author must consistently state that s/he executes any of these rights "with permission from the Annual Review of Astronomy and Astrophysics, Volume 53 © 2015 by Annual Reviews, <http://www.annualreviews.org>."
